Fish Detail from Aransas Co.

Detail from GLO Map #73069

Pointillism is a style of drawing that uses dots instead of lines. By carefully choosing where to place each dot, and putting more (or less) in certain areas, a beautiful picture can emerge.

This spotted seatrout is from Aransas Co., a map in the GLO Archives. Created in 1947, this map shows some of the features of the coastline around Aransas County. It was created by Eltea Armstrong, a skilled draftswoman and cartographer who worked at the Texas General Land Office making maps.

What new map feature will you create using only dots?
No cheating by using lines!
