

Boone is heading to the Texas General Land Office to see some old records. Can you help him get to the GLO Research Room?

Start

AMAZING ACTIVITY

Research Room Maze

The Archives of the Texas General Land Office (GLO) cares for over 36 million historical documents, maps, and other items that relate to the history of Texas land. These collections are looked after by GLO archivists and other experts.

Accessibility is important to the GLO. One way the GLO makes its collections available to the public is through its Research Room. Visitors can request to see historical documents or maps, carry out research, and go on a tour of the Archives.

For more information about what the GLO Scan Lab does, scan the code or visit savetexashistory.org.

