

View of ramp and covered area facing South

Close up of braille signage

The Birds of Corpus Christi Beach

Corpus Christi is one of the great migration paths for hundreds of bird species. Millions of birds migrate through the area each year. The birds that are most commonly seen are the Ring-billed Gull, the Herring Gull, the Black Turnstone, the Piping Plover, and the Great Egret. The birds that are most commonly seen in the area are the Ring-billed Gull, the Herring Gull, the Black Turnstone, the Piping Plover, and the Great Egret. There are also many other birds that are seen in the area. The birds that are most commonly seen in the area are the Ring-billed Gull, the Herring Gull, the Black Turnstone, the Piping Plover, and the Great Egret.

Full signage with braille

Corpus Christi Beach Wetlands

The Corpus Christi Beach Wetlands are a vital part of the coastal ecosystem. They provide a natural habitat for a variety of birds and plants, and they also serve as a natural barrier against storms and flooding.

Wetlands are also important for the local economy. They provide a natural habitat for a variety of birds and plants, and they also serve as a natural barrier against storms and flooding.

Wetlands are also important for the local economy. They provide a natural habitat for a variety of birds and plants, and they also serve as a natural barrier against storms and flooding.

Promenade prior to signage installation

Take a Walk on the Beachwalk!

Measuring almost two miles long, The Corpus Christi Beachwalk takes an average of 45 minutes to complete round trip. The granite distance markers along The Beachwalk are spaced every 1/10 of a mile to help you chart your progress.

Maintaining a healthy lifestyle by exercising and eating right has been proven to prevent diseases such as diabetes. The American Diabetes Association recommends walking 45 minutes five times a week as one of the lifestyle choices that can help reduce your chances of developing diabetes. People with diabetes are 2 to 4 times more likely to develop heart disease.

Include the Beachwalk in your routine. It's free and entertaining, as the sights and sounds of nature help keep you motivated along the way. Keep an eye out for bottlenose dolphins swimming beside you and listen for the laughing gulls cheering you on.

Water fountain and north sidewalk

North side of promenade towards restrooms

Bench located on sidewalk heading west

Mileage marker for Corpus Christi
Beachwalk

West sidewalk towards downtown
Corpus Christi

Side walk access point for Mobi Matt

Picnic pad on beach