AWARD NO. NA20NOS4190184

Project Background:

Adolph Thomae Jr. Park, located along the Arroyo Colorado adjacent to the Laguna Atascosa National Wildlife Refuge, attracts more than 60,000 visitors annually. Amenities at the park include R.V. site rentals, tent camping areas, restrooms, playgrounds, picnic areas, nature trails, alighted fishing pier, a public boat ramp, and an observation tower. Missing from the park is an area to host the multitude of events that occur in the park year-round.

The Cameron County Parks & Recreation Department (the County) used CMP Cycle 25 funds to construct a 40' x 48' illuminated pavilion to accommodate events and provide a more accessible area for the public to gather. The pavilion will comply with Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) requirements and includes picnic tables. In addition, the new pavilion will include interpretative signage and a kiosk to educate the community on the County's coastal resources and sustainability efforts. Signage will be installed at the site acknowledging the use of CMP funding.

This project will allow the County to continue improving the quality of life for its residents and visitors alike by enhancing public access to and enjoyment of the Texas coastal area.

On November 7, 2022, Cameron County Parks & Recreation received the draft design from Clarke Design

Adolph Thomaes, Jr. County Park Shoreline Restoration

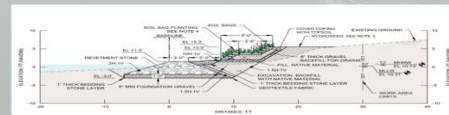

Articulated Concrete Block Mattress (ACBM)

This softer solution is easy to install and provides a stable shoreline protection that conforms to the shoreline variations, allows for public access, and is conducive to natural or planted vegetated cover. These open-cell unit mats can either be left exposed or covered with native material which adds to the sustainability and erosion protection performance. The design includes scour protection and allows for penetrations of existing drainage structures.

Gravity wall

The gravity block wall serves as another of the vertical solutions needed to protect adjacent upland infrastructure such as the boat ramp and camping sites. The individual concrete blocks interlock to create a solid architectural retaining wall. The design includes a stable rock base, scour protections and geotextile fabric to facilitate drainage of groundwater behind the wall.

Habitat Bench

The habitat bench is the most sustainable solution as it is a living shoreline comprised of a protective armor stone berm, soil bag retaining wall, and plantings. In the upper slope the earthen bag retaining wall will be conducive to upland vegetation cover in the less energetic areas, and the rock berm helps to reduce the higher wave energies. In the intermediate area, protected behind the rock berm, higher-quality habitat will be able to propagate and create a more productive vegetative fringe. This softer solution provides for public and wildlife access as well as promotes higher-quality habitat and erosion protection.

This project was funded in part by a Basin Coastal Management Program grant approved by the Texas State Commission on Environmental Quality under the Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972, a grant administered by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA), Office for Coastal Management, pursuant to NOAA award No. NA22OAR0190144.
